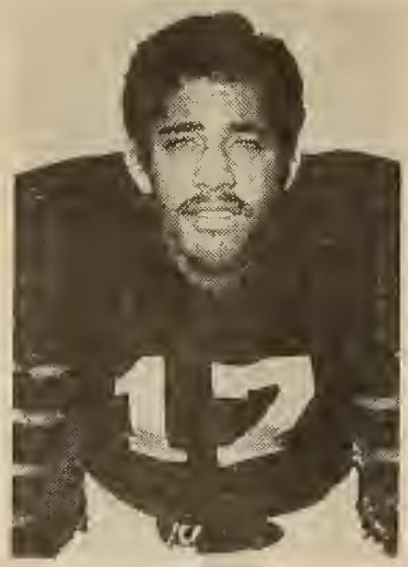
Quarterback Needed to Lead Tigers Back Up Ivy Football Ladder

Will Princeton's football team, which last fall tumbled out of first division in the Ivy League for the first time in a dozen years, rebound to the extent that it becomes strong enough to make a November bid for the championship?

While the answer hinges on the satisfactory development of a number of different segments of the Tigers' 1971 entry in the race, it is not over-simplification to say that their chances for major success depend almost entirely on their ability to field a topflight quarterback.

Virtually all of the other major ingredients for a title-contender are there — foremost among them, a capable, highly experienced defensive unit which returns nine of 11 starters and appears to have more than average depth in replacements. What losses there have been on the offensive line and at flanker back are well within the ability of holdover varsity material and top sophomores to fill. Even the schedule is favorable: for the first time in three years, there are six home games and two of the most difficult opponents — Yale and Dartmouth — come to Palmer Stadium to finish the season.

After 1969's magnificent stretch run to a triple tie for the Ivy crown in the first year of the McCandless regime and T football at Princeton, the Tigers' demise last fall was largely traceable to the fact that they could not develop an adequate successor to the highly-talented Scott MacBean. Under the guidance of this skilled converted tailback, they won four of their last five games, outscoring the opposition during this stretch by an average of 35 to 10.



Rod Plummer
Can He Make the Tiger Move?

The 1970 season gave ample proof that a MacBean cannot be replaced by a quarterback whose varsity record statistically was a single incompleted pass. Rod Plummer was a fullback in high school, a standout defensive back in his freshman year and — in the belief that he will eventually become a solid T quarterback — played that position on the junior varsity as a sophomore. Behind MacBean and his capable stand-in, Arnie Holtberg, Plummer saw so little varsity action that his record at the end of one season was that lone incompleted pass.

Last fall, which was climaxed by Princeton's failure to win any of its three November games for the first time since 1959, was one of trial and tribulation for Plummer, the Orange and Black, and its followers. It was, however, the year which Jake McCandless feels will be the making of the Tiger quarterback in 1971 and, accordingly the stepping stone to renewed contention in the Ivy derby.

Although Plummer's known ability on defense is sufficient that he could step into the vacated safety slot for the asking, McCandless does not plan to switch him to that platoon. "You can't buy the experience he has had at quarterback," the Tiger coach affirms, adding:

"Rod was not solely responsible for the breakdown last year — the problems snowballed. When our receivers found the prescribed pass plays weren't working as they should, they often ran impromptu patterns in an effort to get free. This tended to increase both the number of incompletions and interceptions."

TRUCK VS. POLE: The pole won in this crash Friday morning at 11:39 on Washington Road near Faculty Drive. The driver, Harry Zelinski, 38, of Hightstown, was removed from the crushed cab and taken by the First Aid Squad to Princeton Hospital, where more than 100 sutures and eight pints of blood were administered as a result of deep lacerations of his neck. Mr. Zelinski told police that he hit his brakes when traffic light turned to amber, but the rear of his truck went to the right, causing him to skid on the rain-slicked roadway.

DRUG AID DISCUSSED

By Township Committee. Proponents of a new drug program, operating on a kids-helping-kids basis with the aid of para-professionals, presented to Township Committee Monday night their plans for a Princeton-based operation, but they left almost as many questions unresolved as they answered.

The Institute for Applied Psycotherapy is seeking sponsorship from both the Township and Borough so it will qualify for State Law Enforcement Planning Agency funds. The group will appear again in a special public hearing Thursday evening before Borough Council. Mayor Robert Cawley reported that Council had been told that IAP has until August 6 to submit its papers to the State.

After meeting in executive session, Mayor James Floyd reported that Committee has decided to grant tentative approval — based on answers to questions Committee still has. He was concerned with structure. "What formal board do they have? They say they have a nine-man board in New York but what do they have in Princeton?" he asked.

"I feel this needs a little more formal structure, with some local people to oversee activities." Until he received some assurances, he indicated he was not ready to sign. As for any August 6 deadline, he said he hadn't been given one and that he expected Committee would talk again with directors of IAP at its August 16th meeting.

Taxpayers to Help. Of the $50,000 sought by IAP, SLEPA would contribute $37,500 the first year and Borough and Township $12,500, or $6,250 each. The amounts would remain the same the second and third years, with the addition of $5,000 the second year and $10,000 the third from outside sources. "If SLEPA grants the funds, we commit ourselves to guaranteeing 25% of the amount involved and monitoring the program, cautioned Committeeman Jay Bleiman.

IAP, which does not deal with the hard drug user, had been invoted to come to Princeton by the Youth Concerns' Drug Committee which had studied its work in New York to see if such a program could offer a better approach for dealing with the problem here.

Miss Nancy Hartnett, one of the three young people who established IAP in New York, told Committee that "basically our program seeks to involve young people in such a way to make them feel they are constructively involved. We try to turn negative peer group pressure — it's cool to use drugs in high school — into a positive it's-no-longer cool to use drugs."

IAP uses three basic techniques: individual counseling, role playing and leadership training on a group level and reality groups wherein a youth is encouraged to get involved in what he really wants to do, while taking away the fear of failure. "It's not a critical atmosphere" Miss Hartnett said.

She reported that IAP will be incorporated in New Jersey next week as a non-profit organization. Miss Hartnett admitted that its only present contact with New Jersey was through its attorney here, William Brennan.

We Need Help. Early in the evening, Thomas Hartmann voiced what was to be a continuous concern of Committee. "We're asked to make decisions without adequate instructions," he said. "We cannot accept enthusiasm alone. I'm pleading for some kind of mechanism that will sort these things out so we can deal with them on a governmental level. We never have been in the business of supporting public drug programs."

"We have to decide whether there is a need for the program and if there is a need where should it be," commented Mr. Bleiman. As for money, he said that it might not cost the Township anything because he understood that there were private funds available in excess of the $12,500.

"But what about two or three years from now?" he asked. "SLEPA funds will be available only for a few years. We're being asked in effect to go into contract with IAP and carry out a program."

Is It Social? Mrs. Barbara Diamond of 393 Walnut Lane wanted to know if IAP was medical, composed of doctors, "or is it social, or is it a youth group?" Told it was people

A Separate Borough-Township Drug Commission?

Along with the application by IAP (story, this page) for financial help from the Borough and Township, comes the growing realization of the need for a central agency to monitor and evaluate the proliferating drug agencies in Princeton.

"I plan to talk with Mayor Cawley about setting up a separate drug commission," said Township Mayor James Floyd at his press conference Tuesday. He had hoped, he said, to put IAP under the jurisdiction of a board already structured, such as the Board of Health.

"I consider them an excellent vehicle," he said. (The Board of Health demurred, saying it lacked the expertise.) Instead, the Board of Health recommended a separate drug commission and Mayor Floyd reported that he would be led by that recommendation.

In the Borough at his press conference, Mayor Robert Cawley stated: "The whole question of drug control is something we've discussed at length; some sort of evaluation board has been discussed in the past.

"A lot of structures have been discussed, but the one thing that I see as absolutely necessary is the need for professionals to meet regularly and to trade practical information and a sense of what's going on. Obviously, no one agency can solve the problem; their power is in working together rather than separately. "Somehow," Mayor Cawley continued, "the municipality's interests have to be served. I also see a need for community involvement."

working with a back-up staff of professional help. Mrs. Diamond continued: "We're dealing with the mental apparatus of our youth. We have to ask who is dealing with them. Who decides when to refer? I'm not quite satisfied with the degree of professionalism."

Others in the audience spoke highly of the program. Commented Bill Kight, Princeton street minister: "I think it is a cause for celebration if we can offer one more option for the kid who is reaching out for help." He added the appearence of IAP might be beneficial in forcing other drug agencies to meet together.

"I see it as a hand-holding operation," observed Alice Male of Borough Council who said she hoped that Council would give IAP its support. "We have doctors and professionals but we don't have someone who is willing to hold hands 18 to 20 hours a day and we need that for some of the rough problems. And some of them are pretty rough," she added.

Dr. Shirley Van Furney said: "I feel large groups of young people who do not need intensive psychotherapy but who need primary relationship therapy very often lack constructive guidelines and positive direction which IAP could guarantee." She cited the infectious enthusiasm of the group.

Charles Huchet of special services at Princeton High School said that he saw how IAP could complement the school's drug program and serve as a referral resource. "I don't see one putting the other out of business," he added.

Streets to Be Widened. In other business, Committee:

- Approved a $40,400 bond ordinance for the widening and improvement of the final section of Aexander Road, a 1,050-foot section north of Faculty Road to the Borough-Township line (Township's cost: $6500);
- Rescheduled for August 16 public hearings on amendments to a salary ordinance and resurfacing program because they were not publicly advertised in time;
- Passed a resolution that the Township will support any action by the state legislature prohibiting or regulating the use of non-returnable containers;
- Accepted the section of Herrontown Road between Mount Lucas and Route 206 (the area around Princeton House) into the public street system;
- Appointed probationary Pfl. Robert Nielsen to permanent rank effective August 1, and approved a recommendation of the Township Traffic Officer that four sections of Mercer Road - Princeton Pike within the Township be designated as no passing zones. Lawrence Township and the Borough had taken similar action on portions of the road within their boundaries.

Committee also approved an agreement with Montgomery Township for the improvement and realignment of a section of Cherry Valley Road. The area, about 1250 feet east of the intersection of Cherry Hill Road, involves removing a dangerous S-curve, bridge and widening about 700 feet of road on either side. Montgomery Township had already approved the agreement.

Mayor Floyd emphasized that it was only an agreement and actual construction would be contingent on proper plans and ordinancing. In work done so far, Administrator Joseph R. Nini said that Montgomery had been responsible for construction drawings and the Township for what path the realignment would take and the properties involved. Costs would be born equally, excluding the approaches.

Peace Disturbed. Committee also listened as Mrs. Harold Cherniss of 88 Battle Road complained of excessive noise by a party held in Battle Field Park in July. The amplified music, she said, which went on for 9½ hours, could be heard a half-mile away, from Springdale Road to Edgerstoune, affecting 1,000 citizens. "This was not a generation gap but a consideration gap, a lack of concern for others."

Attorney Gordon Griffin promised to check the Township's noise ordinance to see if it included amplified music.

ZONING BOARD SAYS YES

To Community Housing. Princeton Community Housing, Inc., has cleared its first hurdle on the way to building the long-sought middle and low income homes, winning approval of its plans from the Township Zoning Board Tuesday night.

By a 4-1 margin, with George Pinelli casting the nay vote, the board recommended the use variance and a sheaf of others, with the exception of one concerning a parking area near a disputed property line. Chairman Everett Garretson, Margaret Broadwater, Felix Perone and Seymour Alpert voted yes.

The matter next goes before Township Committee and from all indications its approval appears to be certain.

However, PCH officials must also go back before the Regional Planning Board, which has ruled the projeot a major subdivision, for another public hearing to iron out specifics on the site plan.

Tuesday's meeting before the Zoning board, a continuation of a hearing begun July 15, was taken up almost entirely by a discussion of the safety factors of the Transcontinental Pipeline easement which runs east-west through the 35-acre tract.

PCH attorney John H. Dumont of Smith, Stratton, Wise and Heher presented the board with several letters from Transco officials detailing the perfect safety record of the pipeline during its 20-year existence.

Compliance Achieved. Philetus H. Holt II, one of the project's architect's, pointed out that the plan complied with a Federal Housing Authority circular which stated that buildings must be no closer than 10 feet to the pipeline and no more than three stories high. These buildings will only be two stories, and a minimum of 11 feet away.

The older line is 30" below the surface; the one built in 1968, 36" down, and Mr. Holt commented that PCH would probably be adding to this cover rather than taking away. The 85-foot easement would be a grassy strip used chiefly for informal games such as frisbee or touch football.

Mr. Holt added that Transco would send a field engineer to supervise the pipeline area during construction of roads and underground utilities across the easement.

PCH also had invited Dr. Irvin Glassman, a professor of Aerospace Sciences at Princeton University, to testify on the combustion of various gases. Dr. Glassman is a specialist in the field of fire safety.

Using his best classroom techniques, he gave an enlightening lecture on the properties of methane, the gas which flows through the two pipelines, pointing out (1) that it is lighter than air and one of the most difficult gases to ignite; and (2) that because of the special construction of the pipeline the chances of a blast and fire are virtually nil.

William Cherry, 24 Dempsey Avenue, who last time had been the principal objector, was the only person to speak in opposition during the evening. Besides questioning several of the assumptions about the safety of the pipelines, he commented that this project should not simply be given variances, but considered as an amendment to the zoning law.

George Alexander, 857 State Road, ended the discussion with the comment that when he advertised an apartment for rent in TOWN TOPICS it drew 80 replies, and with a shortage of housing like this existing, it was time to get these units built.

REASSESSMENT BEGUN

Of Township Homes. A reassessment of all Township homes is now underway to bring current property valuations in line with their present market value.

Conducted by the Nassau Revaluation and Appraisal Co., at a cost to the Township of $14,500, the program will encompass a complete analysis of all real estate sales made within the Township during the last three years to establish land values and survey trends in the real estate market.

No visits to homes will be made. Instead, the existing property record cards will be used for descriptive data on the construction, features and size of each improved property. This will be used together with current building costs to obtain the replacement cost today, less depreciation.

The value of the land and home will be correlated with the sales study of comparable properties to arrive at the present market value of each property.

A board of Princeton real estate brokers, appointed by the Mayor and Township Committee, will review all new valuations compiled by the firm. Each property owner will be able to meet with representatives of Nassau Revaluation to discuss his assessment, and, of course, will have the right to appeal it in court.

Township officials noted that since the last revaluation in 1966, there has been a continuing upward trend in the values of a great many properties in the Princeton area and that the new valuations are being updated to assure that each property owner will be paying his correct share of the Township's tax burden.

The new valuation will also provide a more accurate basis for computing the Township's share of county as well as joint Borough-Township expenses. The present formula is based on property transfers and causes just a few sales to affect the entire Township rateables. These sales may or may not provide a true picture of the actual property values.

The Township wants the program finished by the end of this year, because next year all municipalities in the county will compute taxes on 100% evaluation. It has been computing them at 42.48%.

The proposed schedule for the reassessment program follows:

July 1 - August 10. Analysis of property sales that have taken place in Princeton Township within the past three years. There are several hundred property transfers each year and they will all be analyzed and reviewed.

Not all sales can be used, however, as some fall into "non-usable" categories - i.e. transactions between members of a family, transactions in which "love and affection" are stated as part of the consideration, transactions between a corporation and its stockholders, sheriff's sales, as well as sales from charitable or religious organizations.

August 10 - September 1. Development of the Land Value Map. Using the results of the sales study, current land value will be determined for each area of the Township, with adjustments made for individual differences in lot size, topography, etc.

September 1-18. Development of new property record cards. New property record cards will be created using the New Jersey Real Property Appraisal Manual and the current local cost factor for determining building costs. These costs - less allowances for depreciation - will be utilized in conjunction with the Land Value Map and correlated with the analysis of property sales.

September 18-25. A preliminary review of land and improvement values with the Board of Realtors appointed by the Mayor and Township Committee. This is the approach that was used so successfully in the revaluation of 1966 and which served as a model for other revaluation programs throughout the state.

September 25 - October 1. Notification of property owners. Letters will be mailed to each property owner in the Township informing him of the new assessed valuation for land and improvements. With the letter will be a cautionary explanation to the property owner not to apply the present tax rate to the new value. This letter will also indicate a time and place when the taxpayer will be able to meet with representatives of the firm for an informal review of his assessed valuation.

October 2 - 17. Review with property owners. The appraisal firm will arrange to meet with property owners on various evenings to answer questions and review valuations.

October 17-23. Final review with Real Estate Board. The firm will meet with the Board to consider any questions raised by property owners during the informal review period.

October 23-30. Final review with Assessor and other Township officials.

DISCUSSION TO START

On Long Range Report. The Princeton Regional Board of Education held a shirtsleeve session on Tuesday. "I think the Long Range Planning Report particularly needs to get off the ground," President Robert H. Bierman said. He added that he hopes to start board discussion of the report "next week."

After approving nearly a million dollars in bills ($903,703.78, to be exact), as well as various housekeeping and cafeteria bids, the board discussed at length the staff-submitted "Approach to Curriculum Review."

The "Approach" envisions a two-months task force of 17 members of the school system and five members from the community who would "develop criteria for evaluating the present activities of the school (system)." Against these criteria, the curriculum would then be assessed.

Questions arose as to whether one or two committees were being proposed, what were the lines of responsibility and who would serve.

A Fundamental Approach. "This exercise comes as close to basic educational matters as anything in recent months" William W. Marvel said to the rest of the board. "Therefore it's going to involve matters of educational philosophy . . . There's no unanimity about educational philosophy in Princeton today! How does the board make sure that the committee represents the diversity of educational philosophies that exists in the town?"

Board member C. George Fitzgerald noted that the report "was given in May or June," and suggested that the committee "be approved by the board by the September meeting."

School Superintendent Philip MacPherson stroked his

This Way for Complaints

A community relations committee — all volunteers — has been named by the Princeton Regional School Board "in view of the unrest in the community," Dr. Bierman announced Tuesday.

The committee's goal is to improve relations with the community, the faculty and the world," he said, "and to receive in-put from the community."

new beard and said he would make his recommendations and comments to the board at the executive session.

Mrs. Kathleen Edwards reactivated her inquiry of more than a year ago as to why Negro and white children, who start their learning process together, show such "a split" in achievements by eighth grade. She had requested a study, she reminded the superintendent.

"If you can't teach a child to read in eight years, it's insulting!" she said. "When a kid can't write, I get upset!" "I get upset too," Dr. MacPherson replied.

Athletics for All. The board approved the high school's "elective co-educational physical education program" which starts this fall, making girls apparently eligible to go out for football, soccer and other contact sports. The program, titled "Foundation for Life," has among its goals "providing foundational activities which will encourage students to continue actively participating throughout their lifetime."

The driver education program adds behind-the-wheel training for the first time. The board will explore raising the proposed 30 hours of classroom training to 36 to meet insurance company requirements for parents of youthful drivers.

The board will also explore the inquiries from the audience that two librarians without library degrees and experience have been employed. And the planned "bubble" to house Middle School classes still lacks state approval in all of the details. The report is due in a week.

ROCKETS ON DISPLAY: Rockets built and tested by Middle School youths enrolled in the Princeton Regional Schools" Engineering and Secondary School Education" program were on display at an open house last week marking the end of the program's summer segment. Viewing the models are (from Left) David Larkin, Middle School science teacher and program supervisor; Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley; L. Wesley Johnson, associate superintendent, Princeton Regional Schools; Mrs. Ophelia Nutter of Princeton, a grandmother of one of the students; Dr. John F. Abel, University lecturer in civil and geological engineering; and Thomas B. Hartmann, Township Committeeman.

REHEARING AUGUST 19

On OK Bar Case. In a special meeting August 19, Borough Zoning Board will rehear the case of the OK Bar, 16-18 Lytle Street, it was announced Tuesday by Mayor Robert Cawley at his press conference. "Personally," he said, "I am pleased."

In a concurrent application, Borough Council is scheduled to hear this Tuesday the application for the transfer of the liquor license from Mrs. Theresa Nini, owner of the OK Bar, to Paul Harvey of Lambertville. "Unless there is some legal reason, we will hear the transfer of the license as scheduled," Mayor Cawley said. "The two are completely separate."

Over vigorous protests of residents in the area, the Zoning Board last month agreed to let Mrs. Nini reopen the bar that had been closed since 1966 because of Mrs. Nini's heart trouble. Her attorney at the time had argued that Mrs. Nini, in renewing her license every year, had never intended to cease operation of the bar.

Mayor Cawley reported that the decision to rehear the case was based on new evidence. A spokesman for the board said that apparently some time ago, Mrs. Nini had entered into an agreement for sale of the license to the owner of Renwick's on Nassau Street which has since gone out of business. However, the transfer of the license to a different location was denied.

This is contrary to Mrs. Nini's statements that she never intended to discontinue the operation of her bar and restaurant, the spokesman said.

Also at issue is an interpretation of the wording of the Borough ordinance on which the board made its ruling.

"It appears that the wording is different than the standard wording used in state statues," Mayor Cawley said. The difference is a fine one, and Mayor Cawley added: "I suspect it will end up in the

POLICE CHARGE SIX

In PHS Entry. Borough police have charged six youths, two of them 17-year-old juveniles, with breaking and entering Princeton High School with intent to steal.

Released in their own recognizance to await a hearing in Township court August 18 are: Lawrence E. Ritchey, 18, 243 Ewing Street; Kevin B. Smith, 18, 121 Balcourt Drive; Clarence M. Howard, 19, and Thomas W. Howard IV, 20, both of 106 Stockton Street. The 17-year olds were referred to juvenile court.

All were apprehended about 12:30 Friday morning by Sgt. Theodore Lewis and Pfl. James Agins, as they fled from the school. A few had headsets in their possession at the time of their arrest, police said. They had also pushed typewriters into a hall area for removal later.

While on patrol, Sgt. Lewis and Pfl. Agins had noticed three cars parked in the circular drive in front of the school. Investigating, they found the cars unoccupied. Checking further, they discovered a broken window in one of the classrooms, and then saw a group of youths running from the building.

DRIVER IS INJURED

In Turning Accident. A 17-year-old driver, operating on a learner's permit was injured last week when he struck another car while attempting to turn onto Prospect from Harrison.

Kent Bain, 17, 20 Berkshire Drive, Princeton Junction, was treated at Princeton Hospital for a laceration of the lip that required 11 sutures. His mother, Marjory, 47, refused treatment for minor contusions.

According to police, Bain lost control in turning, struck the front of a VW driven by Jeanne M. Shannon, 62, of 103 Patton Avenue, continued on and struck a tree. He was ticketed by Sgt. John J. Bellow for an improper turn.

$300 AMPLIFIER TAKEN

From Township Home. Harrison Higgins, 552 Ewing Street, reported to Township Police Tuesday the theft of a $300 stereo amplifier from his home sometime during the previous week. His house was not ransacked, said Pfl. William Potts who investigated.

Vivian Grey, 61 Adams Drive, reported the theft of a stereo system, records and $100 in cash from her home last month. Her total loss: $470.45. Police said that a front door had been forced open by a screwdriver.

The new Church of Christ off River Road was entered between 12:30 p.m. Friday and 10:15 the next morning.

A desk drawer in an office was forced open, police said, but nothing was taken. Entry was through an unlocked front door.

$46 Taken from Register. Last week, while three attendants of the Gulf Station at Nassau and Maple were out of the office area, a youth stole $46 from the cash register.

After one of the men noticed a young man running from the office down Nassau, the manager checked the register and discovered the money missing.

TRANSFORMER EXPLODES

No One Injured. An electrical transformer exploded under the sidewalk next to Clayton's on Palmer Square Monday morning but no one was injured.

Police received a call at 11:18 reporting an explosion and fire. First, a 2200-volt cable burned off and exploded, police said. About 10 minutes later, the transformer exploded.

Police roped off the area and had one piece of fire apparatus and eight firemen standing by at the scene. The area was cleared at 11:45. Public Service was notified and arrived to make repairs.

"Curiously, we received no calls about any blackout in the area," commented Lt. Michael Carnevale.

HITS PARKED CAR

Charged With Drunken Driving. A Trenton man has been charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident after he hit a parked car on Nassau Street Saturday afternoon and continued on.

The driver, Willie Thomas, 22, was later found parked on Princeton Avenue near Patton slumped over the wheel, unconscious. He was taken to Princeton Hospital by ambulance where he was treated as an emergency case and admitted to the intensive care unit. A blood test showed he had .387% alcohol, well above the .15 legal minimum for drunkeness.

"If he had stopped in a more remote area and hadn't been located as quickly, he might have died," commented Lt. Michael Carnevale. "It was that close."

Thomas was released from the hospital the next day and freed on $250 bail. His hearing in Borough court is set for August 30.

RECORDS IMPOUNDED

On Carpis Psychiatric Care. The Mercer County prosecutor's office is continuing its investigation into the murder of Mrs. Laura P. Carpi, pending presentation of the evidence to a grand jury later this month or in September. Her husband, Colin P. Carpi of 148 Fairway Drive, charged with the murder, is presently free on $100,000 bail.

Last week, Judge Clifton C. Bennett ordered the psychiatric records of the Carpis impounded after they had been subpeonaed by Bruce M. Schragger, county prosecutor. Gerald P. Stockman, Mr. Carpi's attorney, opposed release of the records to the prosecutor's office.

Judge Bennett will decide whether the records can be released to Mr. Schragger or whether they are considered confidential communications between doctor and patient. The records are from Dr. Alvin Friedland of East Orange.

Bocce, Basketball for Community Park

Specifications must be drawn up and the recreation board has to decide on exact location, but two bocce courts and a basketball court are scheduled to be added in the near future to Community Park.

The bocce courts, costing about $1500 each, would be located in a strip along Route 206 next to the paddle tennis courts. The basketball court was earmarked for a spot between the paddle courts and Township Hall but Martin Lombardo, Borough Council liaison, told the board he felt strongly the court should be located nearer the residental area bordering the park.

Funds were set aside for the courts in the original 1964 capital ordinance. About $33,000 is still left, reported R. Donald Barr, executive director of the Recreation Board.

Mr. Barr also announced that the two paddle tennis courts will be resurfaced. "The repairs will be done by our own people," he said, "saving an estimated $750 of the $960 outlay."

who served as the family psychiatrist.

Mr. Stockman and Wilbur H. Mathesius, first assistant prosecutor, will file legal briefs on their positions on the release of the records.

Denial Issued. Dr. William Moskowitz, the Somerville optometrist who offered a $10,000 reward for the safe return of Mrs. Carpi in February, has said there is no basis for the report that he and Mrs. Carpi were planning to be married after both obtained divorces.

COUPLE WIN $50,000

Hopewell Pair Lottery Victors. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiMaio of 24 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, were winners last week of $50,000 in the New Jersey lottery. They held the lucky number (009955) after they had purchased two tickets weekly since the drawings were first held earlier this year.

Mr. DiMaio is employed as a laboratory technician by the E. R. Squibb Co. in New Brunswick where he has worked for the past 13 years. They now hope to become home owners — a ranch house is their ideal — and to use the money to put their three children through college.

This week's drawing for one of the million dollar prizes was scheduled to be held Wednesday at the Garden States Art Center in Holmdel. Among the 29 holders of tickets, who will win anywhere from $500 to the top prize, was Richard A. Kaufmann of Lawrenceville.

SIX ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Six Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough court by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Stephen N. Bender, 37, 308 Dodds Lane, and Victor N. Perone, 56, 373 Ewing Street, each were fined $12 for red light violations. Gale N. Scarzafava, 30, of Hibben Apartments, paid $25 for striking a police car at Nassau and Harrison Streets.

Theodore Gasser of Lawrence Court Apartments was fined $25 for failing to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk. Paying $15 fines were Kent Bain, 17, 20 Berkshire Drive, Princeton Junction, improper turn, and Lynne M. Kreuz, 18, 3 Princeton Place, Princeton Junction, picking up passengers other than at the curb.

Hospital Procedure Protested.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have written to John W. Kauffman, executive vice-president of Princeton Hospital:

The emergency facilities at Princeton Hospital are in dire need of reorganization. There must be a re-examination of priorities.

On this past Friday afternoon, there were ten people in extreme discomfort and pain waiting to see the one doctor manning the Emergency Room. The doctor cared for a child and then asked a nurse to give the child a lollypop.

There were none so the doctor went down to the Hospital Aid Shop to get some lollypops!! The ten emergency patients waited!! We waited for three-quarters of an hour for the doctor to examine my daughter.

During this time she was in extreme pain. No one seemed concerned or cared. No one suggested any medication to relieve the pain.

The doctor recommended an X-ray. We went down to the X-ray room where we were informed that one of the machines had broken down and there would be a wait of at least one-half hour.

I had to request medication and was given two aspirins to give to my daughter to relieve her pain. When I suggested that since she was in pain she be scheduled before some of the routine X-ray patients, I was looked at in amazement.

During an emergency people need to be more cared for and given more comfort than at ordinary times. The staff expressed no concern for the patients' fears or pains. Wouldn't an aid be able to buy lollypops for the children?

Are there no supplementary people, no doctors, who might be called when the emergency facilities are overburdened? I think Princeton Hospital must re-examine its priorities. The lounges and waiting rooms are very attractive but an efficient well running Emergency Room organization must be top priority.

NEW SHOE STORE OPENS

In Montgomery Center. Montgomery Center, the shopping center on Route 206 in Rocky Hill just north of the 518 intersection, welcomed a new tenant this week: The JMJ House of Shoes.

Operated by Joseph OiDonato and his two sons, Michael and Joseph, Jr. — the initials forming "JMJ" — the attractive new store will initially specialize in women's and children's shoes. "We plan to bring in men's shoes later on," Mr. DiDonato said.

For women, JMJ House of Shoes will let its customers choose from among Joyce, Socialites, Nina, Cobbies, Red Cross, Amalfi, Bandolinos, Capers, Latinas and imported boots and shoes. For children, the House of Shoes has the well-known Stride-Rite brand. It hopes to add others in the future.

Located two doors down from the Thriftway Market, the House of Shoes is a large room paneled on three sides in dark wood. One wall painted yellow and a large display window provide lightness.

In the center is a square wooden display table surrounded by wooden chairs. All are patterned after a Spanish style motif. A brass-like, six light chandelier is suspended above the table.

"Our speciality will be service," said Mr. DiDonato. Hours are still being arranged but part of that service will be a Sunday schedule.

6-MONTH LOSS REPORTED

At Applied Data Research. Applied Data Research, Inc., computer software and service company located on State Road 206, has reported operating revenues for the first half of 1971 of $3,336,401 and a net loss of $310,062, or 32 cents a share. This compares with revenues of $3,276,394 and a net loss of $354,330 or 37 cents a share for the similar period in 1970.

As of January 1, the company extended the estimated useful lives for calculated amortization of its proprietary software packages from three years to five. This change in bookkeeping procedure had the effect of decreasing the net loss for the first half of 1971 by $136,000, or 14 cents a share.

John R. Bennett, ADR president, said that "The results of our first half operations were disappointing. In response to the significant slowdown, we have initiated vigorous cost reduction programs which should improve our operating posture for the balance of the year. Our goal is to achieve a balanced operating posture in the current climate and a proportionate improvement when industry sales pick up."

EARNINGS DIP REPORTED

At Applied Researcb. A decrease of 4.7% in net sales and a drop of two cents a share in earnings have been reported by Princeton Applied Research for the six months ending June 30.

Sales amounted to $2,525,000 this year, compared to $2,650,000 for the first half of 1970. Share earnings were 15 cents, contrasted to 17 for the comparable period a year earlier. Order backlog at present is $583,000, down $97,000 from June 30, 1970.

The company said that the decline in net income for the half reflects the carry-over effect of lower sales and bookings experienced during the first quarter. For the three month period ended June 30, 1971, cost of sales and operating and administrative expenses decreased on sales volume essentially equal to that for the comparable period last year. Improved production efficiency and light budget control more than compensated for the increased fixed costs related to occupancy of the new plant, and higher gross profits and net income at slightly lower sales levels were achieved.

New order bookings for the most recent quarter were up sharply (24%) from the same period last year, but when combined with the decrease of 12% experienced for the first quarter, resulted in a net increase for the half of only 5%. Consistent with the trends being reported within the instrumentation industry, domestic order volume is above that for 1970, but foreign orders are below the record levels experienced last year.

THE JM OF JMJ HOUSE OF SHOES: Joseph DiDonato (right) and Michael DiDonato are the "J" and "M" of the JMJ House of Shoes which has opened in the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206. Second "J" is Joseph Sr., the boys' father. Story this page.

Maybe someday all cars will be built like the Citroen.

Maybe someday.

Maybe it depends on you.

When you demand a car, for example, that would ride like a Rolls but costs like a Chevy. One that would take curves like a Maserati but seats a five full passengers. A cer that would be in every sense a luxury car—yet burns gas like a tiny Volkswagen (27 MPG).

Maybe you could get that kind ot car from Detroit if you demanded it. Or you could buy one right now. It's called a Citroen. Just go to your nearest Citroen dealer and test drive it.

Learn how good other cers may someday be; and how someday is today with a Citroen.

IVY STILL A GAME UP

Teagues Right Behind. Ivy Inn and Teague and Hinds both won their games last week in the Princeton Softball League to continue their battle for first place, with Ivy holding a one game edge.

The two were scheduled to meet at 6:15 this Wednesday (August 4) at Community Park in a key contest. An Ivy victory would give it at least a tie for the league crown.

Bill Bartolino and Doug Watson led Ivy past third place Conte's Bar with two hits apiece in the 5-3 triumph. Behind 5-0, Conte's rallied for one run in the sixth and two more in the seventh, but fell short. Thom Yoder had three hits and Wes and Frank Cawley and Ed Barna two each off winning hurler Dave Britton.

The following Monday night Ivy almost saw its one-game lead go down the drain, as its batters were held to just six hits by Grover's Hustlers. The Hustlers banged out nine of their own but could only manage two runs, while Ivy was able to scratch out three for a narrow victory. The Hustler's left the tieing run on third base in the bottom of the seventh.

Teague's, meanwhile, coasted to a pair of easy wins, 9-2 over Varsity Sport last Wednesday, and 11-2 over Country Squire on Monday. Ray Cranstoun, Steve McLean and Cap Crossland each had three hits for the winners against Varsity, in support of pitcher Pete Young. Sam Procacini, Bix Kroener and Wayne McAteer had two safeties apiece for the losers. On Monday a good team effort, offensively and defensively, by Teague's took care of Country Squire.

Other Sports
On Pages 34-36

That gave Country Squire a split in its games for the week; it had beaten Nassau Conover, 7-3, on Wednesday. A four-run first inning, capped by a home run by Tony Jackson, gave the winners a lead they never relinquished. Chris Hagadorn was the winning pitcher. John Armonica and Tom Brophy led Nassau Conover with two hits apiece.

The Motormen were also able to gain a split for the week, when they came back Monday nigth to upset Conte's Bar, 3-1. Armonia and Joe Cimerola led the victors with two hits. Brophy was on the mound. The victory moved Conover's out of the league cellar.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Ivy Inn	13	2	.867
Teagues'	12	3	.800
Conte's	9	6	.600
C'try Squire	5	9	.357

FIRST PLACE CLINCHED

By McGraw-Hill. McGraw-Hill has clinched first place in the eastern division of the Business Softball League with a 15-11 triumph over second place Educational Testing. McGraw-Hill also finished first last year, but lost in the post-season playoffs to ETS, the current league champion.

In the west Cities Service was eliminated from the race by RCA A, which won 7-1. RCA Astro stayed a game in front of RCA A with a 7-6 victory over ERC.

Obituaries

Frederick F. Stephan, 68, of 24 Maclean Circle, died August 2 in Princeton Hospital following an illness of several weeks. He was emeritus professor of social statistics at Princeton University and one of the nation's leading statistical experts.

Prof. Stephan, who retired this past June, helped strengthen the United States Census, developing a method used in the 1940 census for sampling the entire population. He pioneered other statistical developments which improved the Census information, assured prompt publication of Census data and led to more economic operations.

In 1961 he was named by President Kennedy one of the six members of the President's Committee to Evaluate Employment and Unemployment Statistics. He was a former director of the Social Science Research Council, a longtime trustee of the Rand Corporation and was for six years, 1958-1964, editor of the Public Opinion Quarterly.

A native of Chicago, Professor Stephan received his bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of Illinois in 1924 and his master's from the University of Chicago. He taught at the University of Pittsburg and at Columbia, served as director of the Bureau of Social Research for the Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies and was for five years, from 1935 to 1940, secretary-treasurer and editor of the American Statistical Association. He was called to Princeton in 1947 from Cornell University, where he was professor of sociology and statistics and had gained a wide reputation as an advisor to a variety of government agencies.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Eda M.A. Stephan, whom he married in 1925; two daughters, Mrs. James P. Mergler of Heidelberg, Germany, and Mrs. Richard Greene of Longmeadow, Mass.; and two sons, Frederick P. of Quincy, Ill., and Walter F. of Winnetka, Ill.

Warden of County Jail Target of Church Groups

Retirement of Michael Bajek, warden of the Mercer County Jail, and revision of the proposed new "Inmate Guide" are being urged by a number of church, civic and peace groups.

A mailing last week from the Unitarian Church of Princeton urged concerned residents to attend the County Freeholders' 9:45 a.m. meeting on Tuesday, August 10, at 640 South Broad Street, Trenton. Freeholder Clifford W. Snedeker, a Republican, is chairman of the county correctional institutions.

Charges made are that Warden Bajek, a $16,495-a-year appointee of the Democratic-controlled freeholder board, has:

- Denied detainees the right to call or see a lawyer.
- Put a man in solitary confinement for a week for not cutting his hair.
- Kept another man in solitary for three months for not shaving off his moustache.
- Denied a priest access to the jail on the basis of a private letter to a detainee.

"All of these men being detained were just awaiting trial; thus they were all legally innocent!" the mailing states.

Warden Since 1950. Warden Bajek was first appointed in 1950, and was reappointed this year to a new five-year term which would end in 1975.

Representatives of the groups plan to appeal to the Freeholders Committee on Correctional Institutions to reject the proposed "Inmate Guide," which they state "will not rule out cruel and unusual punishment, will not rule out censorship and denial of free speech or other unconstitutional and inhumane practices in the jail."

A major recommendation of the Grand Jury presentment which scored Bajek and the Democratic freeholders for some of the jail operations was a list of rules and regulations for the institution. Representatives of the groups have testified in support of more humane practices at the jail before the freeholder committee.

Participants include Ted Peck, chairman of the Unitarians' Social Concerns Committee; the Rev. Robert L. Cope, minister of the church; Professor Bart Hoebel of Princeton University, chairman of the Fund for Peace Education; Maureen Rapp, Susan Elliott, Betty Sue Lentz, Geraldine Boone of the Mercer County Community Action Council, and Robert Dean of Prison Action Committee.

Also, Rollin Kirk, American Civil Liberties Union; Patricia Roberts, Fund for Peace Education; Carl Ward of Colleg jans for Black Awareness; Roger Maren of the Fellowship of Reconciliation; Father Sam Lupico of the East Trenton Community Center; Harry Davis, Association for Equal Opportunities, Jan Flaugher, Ty Edwards, Princeton Professor Steve Slaby, Faculty-Student Ad Hoc Committee on Peace and Human Rights, and Stephen Pfeiffer, Legal Aid Society staff attorney in charge of prison projects.

Transportation to Tuesday's meeting of the Freeholder committee may be arranged by calling Mr. Peck at (609) 452 2670.

53 Teens to Sing Out. A folk musical about God, composed by Ralph Carmichael and Kurt Kaiser, will be presented by 53 teenagers at 8 p.m. this Thursday at the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church.

The singers are members of the Chapel Choir of Port Norfolk Baptist Church, Portsmouth, Va. They are directed by Slater C. Mounts, former director of the Lawrenceville church choirs, and accompanied by Mrs. R. Clayton Pitts at the piano, in addition to guitars, drums, recorders and other instruments.

"Tell It Like It Is' was broadcast on the NBC nationwide network in color on July 25, repeating the program of February 1, 1970. A recording by the Baylor (Texas) University Choir has sold over 48,000 copies.

Mr. Mounts, a graduate of Westminster Choir College in 1952, directed the Lawrenceville choirs for two years. Since then he has served as choir director in Guatamala and Scotland as well as in this country. Several of his handbell arrangements have been published. He is minister of Music of the Port Norfolk Church.

Study Center Teaches Learning through Doing to Combat Leisure Time

STILL GOING STRONG: The five-week summer program sponsored by the Princeton Study Center is over, but a film project with Swarthmore junior Ken Klothen of 215 Mt. Lucas Road, and Don Johnson 9, of 111 Birch Avenue continues until their film about pollution is completed. The movie, in which David Johnson and Mark Pittman also take part, will be shown at the reunion planned for the summer participants.

The Princeton Study Center summer program, devised for 40 boys and girls too old to be enticed by playgrounds and too young to be a "teenage concern," last week completed five weeks of learning through doing at the Unitarian Church. The director was David Anderson, a sixth-grade teacher at Montgomery School; his co-director, Kathie Stonaker, another teacher and six college-age counselors made up the staff.

After a covered-dish dinner last Thursday, parents and friends were given a show in the auditorium of the Unitarium Church. Enthusiasm ran even higher than the temperature and humidity, which reached suana-bath proportions.

Youngsters not too shy to sing a solo did so with a professional varnish applied during the past week by Johnnie and Michael Hill, recording artists who volunteered their skill. If there were any slow learners, their difficulties did not extend to the lyrics of the latest hit tunes.

"She knows all the words to a new record the day it comes out," reported one parent. One counselor, an expert on the drums, led a rhythm band of boys who could feel the beat while four girls danced their own choreography.

A Movie - with a Plot. A movie, which one boy had filmed, showed Study Center actors looking for a place to play basketball and finally finding hoops at the Shopping Center, only to be chased away by older boys, played by counselors. It had more plot than a present-day film fan has a right to expect.

After a piano solo and a seance during which each of the participants told a personal ghost story, there was a grand finale with the spontaniety which only the composers themselves can give their words and music.

In another part of the church there was a sewing exhibit, which included a pink-flowered maxi-skirt, lots of bright minis, a comfortable-looking pillow and a half-finished apron. There were small picnic tables in the woodwork show. One of the best was made by a boy from Colombia who had to get instructions in the best broken-Spanish the staff could provide.

A girl built a house the proper size for her Labrador retriever. She had thoughtfully made it in two sections so that her father and brother could remove the peaked roof from the main building and transport the huge project to the car.

Presentations Made. There were several presentations, one to a girl now in her third summer with the program, who had finally dived into the swimming pool; and one, an inflated orange tiger signed by counselors and kids, to the director.

The visible results from the five-week program were quite impressive, especially in view of the fact that almost one whole week was taken up by camping at Stokes Forest. "This is her third summer," one mother said, "She hates school but this is different."

Another said, "I don't know what my two children would be doing this summer without this program. My boy doesn't have many friends and it's hard for me to find something that interests him. I catch on whatever comes along, swimming and such, but it's not enough to keep him off the streets."

Some children come just because there's nothing else to do, but most come recommended by school personnel who spot the student who has most to gain from a program geared to individual needs. They are normal, healthy boys and girls, although a learning problem or even a brush with juvenile authorities will not automatically exclude anyone.

About Next Year. "Will we see you next summer?" The children asked Dave Anderson and the other leaders. For Dave, the answer had to be "no." He will assume within a few days the duties of a new position which, he says does not have a teacher's "theoretical" two-month vacation.

For the Princeton Study Center Board, a different consideration exists: Where will the money come from? A bare-bones program, like the one this summer, costs $5,000, raised wholly this year from donations of townspeople.

The facilities were free, thanks to the Unitarian Church. Custodial services were performed by the Study Center staff.

To raise $5,000 is difficult and time-consuming and cannot be allowed to detract from what the Study Center considers its main business of free private tutoring and homework assistance during the school year. In the long run, the decision probably will be made by the people who live in Princeton when they are asked to contribute next year.

A PLAY FOR ALL AGES: "Androcles and the Lion," the legendary story of the slave whose life was saved by a lion he had befriended, will be retold next week by Summer Intime. Among the cast are Dan Berkowitz (right) as Androcles and E. E. Norris, the braggart captain who would like to be bad but hasn't the courage.

Summer Intime Pleases with "Uncle Vanya"

We rarely find an artist who illuminates his drawings with such pure love as Chekhov; most give us interesting or clever or paradoxical views of unique and critical situations. Chekhov, rather, limns an ambiance, a climate, in which the player and witness must learn to breathe before the subtle possibilities of action and perception can be absorbed.

This is perhaps why we see so little Chekhov: his work—exquisite, whole, gentle—depends upon wells of feelings which we do not obviously have. His is a mature, delicate, and deep world, where potential happiness, potential sadness, are created in each moment, and the balance of moods depends on internal actions and upheavals, not on the gross motions of the landscape or mutations of the soul.

"Uncle Vanya", Chekhov's comic drama of people captured by the dissipation of possibility—the wastes of life and the inabilities of the powerful to create the lives they wish—is now being played at Summer Intime. The lives of Chekhov's characters, with their extremes and emotional crises, their despair, their tedious ennui, are not dramatic so much as they are real, and this may be something Intime should consider.

The tendency in this production is to play low, for the obvious, the explosive or the funny, while failing to modulate for the deeper, warmer tones of poignant despair and gentle malaise which should make the witness feel truly sad. This is not to say that "Uncle Vanya" is not a fine evening; Summer Intime has kept all the necessary human proportions intact, but it has perhaps become slightly intoxicated with the human powers of intense feeling that Chekhov describes.

Introspection Needed. Too much, too much. These are difficult negotiations with hope, and we ought to witness them as we might witness films of ourselves when we are most invisible to our own analysis; when we are trying, for example, our hardest not to fail at something at which we are bound to fail by the limitations of our vision.

Beaten by fate, looking for redemption, broadly in love with humanity but narrowly cynical about it, the people of "Uncle Vanya" seem to elevate disappointment and dissatisfaction to high aspirations.

Vanya — passionately and precisely well-played by John Vennema — is an honest man who loves his brother-in-law's second wife, Helena, who is acted by Deborah Savadge. Vanya describes her as having "mermaid blood", and she is indeed a beautiful fish, cool, apathetic, and bored by her armiger.

Though her aged, fatuous husband doesn't satisfy her, neither does Vanya, who is too prosaic to be attractive. She exists best as Vanya's intense desire, not as his lover; he has created his happiness in her and has successfully kept his happiness beyond reach. He is not a lonely fool, though.

Unrequited Love. Helena's stepdaughter and Vanya's niece, Sonia — played with affecting naivete by Giulia Pagano — also suffers an unrequited love for Dr. Michael Astroff, physician and forester, whom we sense to be much like Chekhov himself. Larry Strichman—perhaps properly—does not endow Astroff's humanity with the same strength he gives to Astroff's visionary side. Looking to the future, Astroff cannot respond to the current passion in Sonia.

One senses that Chekhov intended Astroff to be more dimensioned, more humane, less sardonic, and more responsive to his own self-destruction. The complexities of character here can be overwhelming; these four, each of whom feels (and therefore is) cheated out of his life, degenerates pathetically into an acceptance of loneliness and failure as the best one can ever do. It is dreaming that makes their real lives abortive and it is real life that destroys their dreams.

Richard Ferrugio, Dan Berkowitz, Mary Ann Jensen, and Rush Rehm support the principals well. Richard B. Williams multi-level, forested set is a fine environment for these "scenes from country life."

Geoff Peterson's direction lacks some of the maturity by which the play effects its gifts: too contrived, too obvious, perhaps slightly insensitive to the divinity of the fools Chekhov sees with such deep compassion. But Summer Intime does an admirable thing in presenting "Uncle Vanya": we are given an artist who was also a man, and an art uncommonly touched by gentle human hands.

"ANDROCLES" COMING To Summer Intime. Summer Intime will present Aurand Harris's version of "Androcles and the Lion" at 2 p.m. this Sunday through Wednesday at the Hamilton Murray Theatre.

This delightful children's play enacts the legend of an escaped slave who befriends a injured lion and nurses him back to health. Later, when Androcles is captured and thrown into a lion's den, he meets his friend again.

Playing Androcles is Dan Berkowitz, a Princeton University graduate planning to attend the department of dramatic art at the University of California. Known for a variety of roles with Summer Intime over the past two seasons, Mr. Berkowitz has also played Piglet in "Winnie-the-Pooh", and directed this season's production of "Twelfth Night".

Princeton graduate, John Vennema will play the lion. Soon to begin studies at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art, Mr. Vennema took the part of Malvolio in "Twelfth Night" and the title role in "The Rainmaker".

Deborah Savadge, veteran of "The Rainmaker" and "Joe Egg", will direct "Androcles". For this play Miss Savadge has chosen to use the commedia dell'arte style of performance including disguises, a chase and all the commedia characters of antiquity. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, she has played with Summer Intime for four seasons.

Other players include, Richard Ferfugio, E.E. Norris, Giulia Pagano, Richard Williams, and narrator, Rush Rehm. Information and reservations may be obtained by calling the SI box office 452-8181.

"Joe Egg" Returns. The final four performances of Peter Nichols' comedy, "Joe Egg" will run at 8:30 p.m. this Thursday through Saturday, and 7:30 p.m. on Sunday at the Hamilton Murray Theatre.

The play, directed by Larry Strichman, a second year student at the Yale Drama School, tells the story of a young married couple whose daughter, the "Joe Egg" of the title, is an incurable spastic. The cast includes Geoff Peterson, Deborah Savadge, Carmen Apelgran, Shirley Kauffman, John Vennema and Giulia Pagano.

KLUTE: Jane Fonda stars as a prostitute who is the intended victim of a killer in the thriller, "Klute," now at the Garden Theatre. Donald Sutherland co-stars.

FINAL FILMS PLANNED For SI Festival. Summer Intime's 1971 Film Festival has scheduled two classic American films for its final two showings of the season. "The Lady from Shanghai", with Orson Welles and Rita Hayworth will be shown Monday; "Birth of a Nation" by D.W. Griffith will run Tuesday.

Both films begin at 0 p.m. in the McCormick Art Museum on the University campus. Seating is on a first-come, first-served basis. Further information may be obtained by calling the SI box office at 452-8181.

REPERTORY PLANS SET By Community Players. A newly-formed executive committee for the Princeton Community Players is anxious to include new members in the repertory troupe to share in the activities planned for the fall and winter seasons.

The first scheduled meeting will open the season with a backyard picnic Sunday, September 12, at Shirley Kauffman's home, 148 Library Place. All current and potential members are invited.

Dates of tryouts for the first production, "A Thousand Clowns," as well as new ideas and suggestions for plays will be discussed at the September 12 meeting. The production goal is four plays — with one-acters, play readings and workshops in between.

McAneny to Direct. Of special interest, Herbert McAneny will announce his plans to direct a one-act play called "Three Gentlemen of Soho," to be produced in October. Besides several male and female parts to be filled, a piano player is needed.

Everyone, veterans and newcomers alike, are urged to attend the Players' pool and picnic party in September. Questions or requests for further information may be directed to members of the executive committee: Phillip Paul, pre-

"TIME FOR A CHANGE"

Teacher Leaves for India. For 20 years, Mrs. Virginia Switten of 202 Moore Street taught classes in Princeton schools. On Thursday, she went to India.

"It's time for a change!" she said sturdily just before she left for the airport. "And I think I'll be making a contribution to things I believe in . . ."

Mrs. Switten will be head of the music department at the Woodstock School in Mussoorie, about 150 miles from New Delhi. She has a year's leave without pay from the Princeton Regional School System.

A native of Lisbon, O., and a graduate of Carnegie Tech with a degree in public school music, Mrs. Switten holds a master's degree from Westminster Choir College and additional credits from Indiana University.

She taught voice at Westminster at one time and for the past two decades has been instrumental music teacher at the Middle School and at Littlebrook School. She played the trumpet with the Music Amateurs and sang at First Presbyterian Church.

Now her children are grown — a daughter is a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College and a son is a senior at Antioch — and Mrs. Switten is off for a refreshing year, realizing the dream of many a long-time employee. She heard of the job opening through a friend living in India.

Her new school, founded many years ago for the children of missionaries, is a boarding school with grades kindergarten through high school. Mrs. Switten will administer the music department, which includes six staff members; teach band and orchestra and a choir "and possibly I will give a fine arts course." The student body now includes the children of many nations, she adds with enthusiasm, "and the music department has a strongly supported program of both Indian and western music."

Mrs. Virginia Switten

Those interested in attending the program should call Mrs. Rose Zinetti at 799-0184 and indicate when they plan to attend.

PRINCE and LINCOLN

The Anderson Tapes (now playing) is an excellent thriller about the methodical ransacking of a small but expensive New York apartment while some of the tenants are still home.

The gang is headed by Sean Connery, who dreams up the caper, and executed with the aid of Dyan Cannon, his girl friend who lives in the building; Alan King, a mobster; Martin Balsam, an interior decorator, and Christopher Walker, a novice burglar.

The main gimmick is that the whole caper is recorded on wire-tapped tapes, which are illegal, but the taped record is not understood. The film has suspense, excitement and good performances. Directed by Sidney Lumet and based upon Lawrence Sanders' best-seller.

GARDEN

Klute (now playing) is a tense thriller about a small town cop (Donald Sutherland) who searches the big city for his missing friend, vanished six months ago from his job with a large company.

His lead is to an expensive call girl (Jane Fonda). Her problems includes obscene letters and mysterious phone calls from an unknown person. The growing relationship between the policeman and the prostie is a gem of off-beat characterization.

Jane Fonda, who really takes over the film, gives a fine performance as a girl trying to break out of her old profession into modeling or acting or something else. Sutherland is tight-lipped and low key throughout the film. Director Alan Pakula has made a well-crafted film.

Children Love Tree That Grew in Princeton

This summer the Princeton Public Library has held almost daily programs for children. Hundreds of high rolling youngsters have come for the Thursday afternoon movies, the John Counts' story hours, the Summer Reading Club, and the pre school programs . . .and the adult browsing the library shelf is hardly aware that they are there.

The summer program, planned by Mrs. Patricia Kirk, Children's Librarian, has been so successful that story hours were doubled and children regretfully turned away when the meeting room filled or the rosters grew beyond the capacity of the library's small staff.

A year ago, Mrs. Kirk was a reference librarian. But since September she has been trying this, trying that as head of the children's section and finding much success.

The reading tree, with the pillows on the "grass" around it, was her idea. "Everything good comes from Mrs. Kirk!" is the appreciative comment of Mrs. Jessica Lamkin, her assistant, seconded by a Wiggins Street child, who said in a letter, "Please keep the pillow tree."

A Tree Grew in Princeton. The tree, a marvel of papier mache, was made in two days by the children's librarians and the library pages: Daniel Logan, Eva Lawin, Tom Hui, Ann Schwartzentruber, Sally Drake and Diane Westover. "We cut out leaves for ages." is a remark by Mrs. Lamkin that the viewer appreciates when he sees the tree.

The reading tree is a prime spot in the children's section. Ask any young patron.

John Counts, an incomparable teller of children's tales, held forth again this year at a story hour for children kindergarten age and up. "At the first one, 86 children turned up!" Mrs. Kirk says.

"He couldn't handle so many children there's a wide range of ages, and he's all by himself up there!" Up there is the meeting room on the second floor.

Fan Club. Mr. Counts is librarian at the Littlebrook School, and his admirers are many. "He just puts a lot of expression into the things he reads and the children enjoy it. He often chooses a story with repeated phrases, and the children join in, such as the story with a list of all the things a little boy likes to eat.

"Keeping this number of children interested for 40 to 50 minutes is quite a challenge!" Mrs. Kirk smiles.

On Tuesdays, the Story Club meets--50 registered, far more than the library expected. "They can bring guests--and they usually do!" Mrs. Lamkin notes. The Reading Club program consisted of a suggested reading list and such speakers as Jerry Kline, a Princeton graduate student who fascinated the group with his pet snakes, and Bruce Adams from the State Museum and an ornothologist, who brought birds with him.

The movies on Thursday afternoons have been enthusiastically attended. Programs included "The Red Balloon" and "Peter and the Wolf." The 45 minute show includes the youthful pleasure of sitting together on the red rug in front of the screen.

On Friday mornings, the "pre-school specials" range through stories, songs and play activities--all in 30 minutes. About 30 children were expected, but 65 applied. The library obligingly scheduled two sessions, and more applications have been received since then.

Instant Success. Two films were scheduled for children and their parents. In June, the bill was "Rabbit Hill," drawing 173 children and parents. "We were mobbed!" On Monday of this week, it was a Disney double feature.

"The response has been overwhelming!" the children's librarians say. Young and highly-tuned to children's ways, they developed an efficient method of handling the hordes of children, taking them up to the meeting room for films and stories by way of a stairway from a corner in the children's department. The programs will end after August 13.

Next summer? Mrs. Kirk breathes a pleased sigh. "I don't know yet. I don't know what I want to do for next year. We will have a meeting and evaluate this summer's activities. Planning special events takes a lot of time.." She adds in a surprised way, "It has all been so successful!"

THE READING TREE that sprouted and grew to full size overnight at Princeton Public Library last month offers the most sought-after spot in the children's section. Above (from left) are Melinda Cragg, Barbara Bowden, Robin Mapp, Roxanna Mapp and Hazel Gaynor. The books being read include "J.T." by Jane Wagner, "More Riddles" and "Puzzles, Puzzles and More Puzzles."

Drive for Million Pennies Halted by Foul Play

Ignoring the adage, 'Penny wise, pound foolish,' thieves last week stole more than 800 pounds of pennies from a storage box at Princeton Day School.

Of the 136,528 pennies stored inside a four-foot square wooden box at the time of the theft, thieves left about 5,000 behind--just enough to cover the floor of the two-foot high container. They took out 33 screws to remove the top of the box to get at the pennies.

The theft was discovered at 3:45 last Wednesday. Ptl. John Hammond of the Township police investigated, and banks in the area have been alerted. Many of the stolen pennies were brand new. It would take about 2600 wrappers in 50-cent denominations to wrap them all.

"It just makes you sick," commented Phil Van Dusen of the PDS administrative staff. "The kids were running the whole thing."

The penny drive began in March under impetus from Norman Sperling, director of the school's Duncan Planetarium. "We deal in millions and billions in astronomy," he said "and the kids were tossing such figures around too carelessly. So I decided to teach them how massive a million is." They decided to collect a million pennies and the Mega-penny drive was launched.

BECAUSE HIS PDS STUDENTS were carelessly tossing "million" and "billion" around astronomy teacher Norman Sperling decided to show them how much a million was by collecting 1,000,000 pennies in the box to his right. Security proved inadequate however, and thieves made off with 130,000 of the 136,000 collected.

John Joyce, an eighth-grader, built the box from plywood and 2x4s. "One million pennies would just about fill it and weight a couple of tons," commented Mr. Sperling. John installed plexiglas windows on the top and side and illuminated the interior so students could watch the pennies rise. Pennies were collected in batches, counted and then added through a slot opening in the top, covered with a locked latch.

To Be Used for Scholarships. The box was placed on a lower level near the main stairs leading from the administrative offices. When the 1,000,000th penny was added, the students planned to turn the $10,000 over to the school's Scholarship Fund. "That's five full scholarships," Mr. Van Dusen stated.

He reported that as far as he knows, he was the last person to see the box full last Saturday. There were about six inches of pennies in the box, he said. Wednesday, when Mr. Sperling glanced at the side window, "all of a sudden there were no inches left."

The pennies left behind made it appear to those who looked at the box from the top as they descended the steps that nothing had been taken. "That is the way most of the people viewed it," Mr. Van Dusen commented. "Somebody's got an awful lot of pennies to wrap."

Neither Mr. Van Dusen nor Mr. Sperling were able to comment on whether the students would start all over again. "That's something they'll have to decide when they return to school," Mr. Van Dusen said.

Postman Keeps Recreation Board Well Occupied

Two or three letters is the average the Joint Recreation Board reads at its monthly meeting. Last week, the board received seven, ranging from requests for financial aid to a protest against "canned" music at the pool and tennis courts.

Mrs. Francis Perkins Jr. of Faculty Road, in a letter and petition, took the board to task for prohibiting ice skating on Lake Carnegie in the area behind the Magie and Hibben Apartments following a series of accidents last January 12 when three people fell through the ice. She termed the step "an unduly conservative action" and said that it was an inconvenience to the 192 families residing there. Four pages of signatures were attached to her letter.

R. Donald Barr, executive director of the Recreation Department, reported that it was the "definite feeling" of the board that the area was not safe for skating and that it was not interested in reopening it. "I don't know of any policy that was considered more by this board," commented Dean Chace, Township Committee liaison.

However, after discussion in executive session, Mr. Barr announced that the board would talk again with officials of Princeton University, which owns the lake, with the idea of re-examining the whole issue.

A Boston Marathon? Rowan Boone of Greenhouse Drive wrote suggesting that the board sponsor a marathon race in the spring. He said that he would be willing to donate the trophy.

Paul E. Van Horn of Mt. Lucas Road, speaking for himself and other doctors, requested that a public telephone be installed at the Community Park tennis courts so that doctors could be reached in emergencies. Mr. Barr reported that the board had been trying to do just that but with little success.

"The phone company is all business. If they don't think a pay phone will make money, they are reluctant to install it," a member observed.

Norman VanArsdalen, coordinator of physical education for the Princeton Regional School System, requested use of the paddle tennis courts by the schools for four periods during the school year — from September through June. Hours would be 8-9 a.m. for Sept. 13 to Oct. 29 and 2 to 3 p.m. for the later periods.

Derek and Judith Wooldridge of Hickory Court were opposed to the Muzak played at the pool complex and tennis court, claiming it was annoying and distracting. At the very least, they wrote, the board should conduct a referendum among pool and tennis users to see if it was actually wanted.

Who Asked for It? Initially, the board hesitated to take any action on the basis of one letter. However, after it was disclosed that the Musak was loud and bothered the lifeguards, board member Frances Hutner inquired, "Who asked for it in the first place?"

The board finally decided to turn it off for a week to see if anyone complained about missing it.

Two letters asked for forms of financial assistance from the board, proof of the ever-pressed financial squeeze.

Richard E. Thompson of Random Road wrote in behalf of the Princeton Midget Football League, which in its eight years of existence has grown from a program suiting up 75 boys to more than 325. No boy has ever been turned away.

Mr. Thompson said that increased costs for equipment, insurance and officiating had forced the league to raise the $5 registration fee for the first time - from $5 to $12.50. Insurance alone for each boy has risen to $8.50. Each player receives 55 pounds of equipment.

Another Field Needed. Some boys may need scholarships to pay the $12.50 fee, Mr. Thompson wrote. He asked the board to underwrite the cost of the scholarships. Failing that, he asked for help to meet the rising officiating costs.

He also requested that the board, which has provided one, 80-yard field, provide two this year. The board took no action on the requests.

Davis Price, as assistant minister at First Presbyterian Church, who, as a member of the Youth Concerns Committee, is involved with the Flight 2 young people's group wrote and described the progress of the group in seeking night swimming.

To use the Community Park pool, the board tried temporary lighting arrangements through contractors and Public Service. None was adequate. Flight 2 then obtained use of the YMCA pool for Wednesday and Sunday nights for $20 an hour or $40 a night, which has been paid by the Recreation Board. So far, attendance has been poor.

In executive session, the board agreed, however, to continue the program for several more sessions. "If it becomes a success, great!" said Mr. Barr.

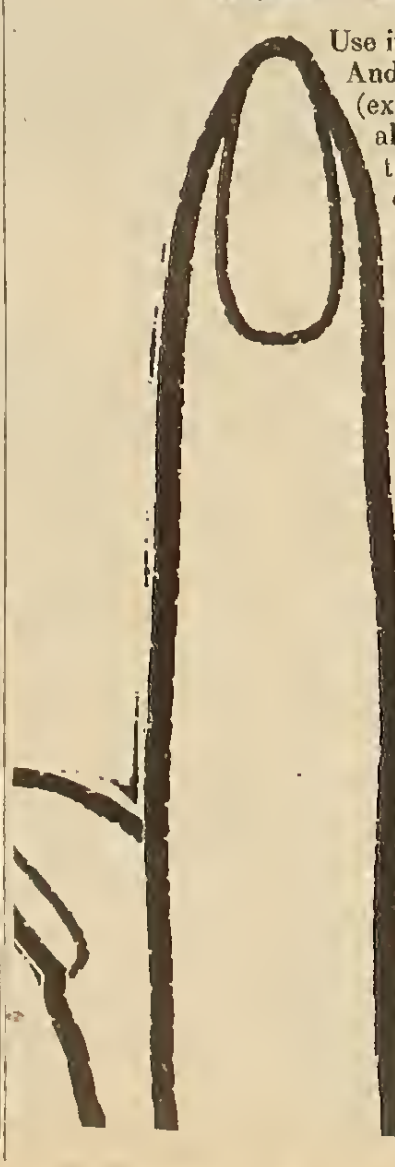
New Jersey Bell points out a wonderful gadget for reducing phone bills.

Your index finger.



Use it to dial all out-of-state station calls. And no matter what other state you call (except faraway Alaska and Hawaii), it will always cost less than if you had placed the call through an operator. Especially on weeknights and weekends when the savings are especially big.

For example. During weekend bargain-calling times*, a 3-minute coast-to-coast station call costs $1.40 plus tax—if you use the services of an operator.

But the same call is reduced even more—way down to 70¢ plus tax—if you dial it yourself without the services of an operator.

So, remember to dial your own station calls without an operator. And fight inflation with just one finger.

Classicist Frank C. Bourne, widely known for his teaching and research in the fields of Roman history and Roman law, has been honored with appointments to one of Princeton University's oldest endowed professorships, The Kennedy Foundation Professorship in Latin Languages and Literatures, which was established in 1877.

The newly designated Kennedy Professor, a 57-year-old native of Wells, Maine, where he continues to maintain his home, joined Princeton's Department of Classics in 1946 following five years of World War II duty with the U.S. Army Air Force. As Kennedy Professor Dr. Bourne, who holds three Princeton degrees, succeeds the late Paul R. Coleman-Norton.

In past years Professor Bourne, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Moses A. Bourne, of Wells, Maine, has held the Philip Lindsley Bicentennial Preceptorship and has served as a Fellow of Princeton's Council of the Humanities as well as Master in Residence of the Princeton Graduate College. Dr. Bourne was valedictorian of his graduating class at Wells High School.

David Meloy, 38 Alexander Street, a student at Muskingum College, is participating in an intensive five-week geology course in western Wyoming sponsored by Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, 117 Library Place, has returned from Lima, Peru where he was attending the Assembly of the World Council of Christian Education.

Representatives from the Orthodox, Protestant and Roman Catholic churches of 77 countries were in assembly with Dr. Homrighausen as the group voted to become affiliated with the World Council of Churches. A new unit was formed, consisting of 10 members who will study perspectives in Christian education.

Frederick J. McDonald of Grovers Mill has been named director of the educational studies division at Educational Testing Service. He has been chairman of ETS' teacher behavior research group.

Dr. McDonald is former associate dean for instruction at the New York University School of Education. Prior to that, he was for 12 years professor of education and psychology at Stanford University.

An authority on teacher performance, he will continue to guide a program of research on teacher behavior, with emphasis on the development of improved measures of teaching skills. While at Stanford, he pioneered the use of videotape to train teachers and was a member of the team that developed microteaching, a new approach in teacher training.

The author of "Educational Psychology," a widely-used college test, Dr. McDonald will direct research and development to improve educational programs at local, state and national levels. The educational studies division, established in 1967, is involved in a six-year longitudinal study of disadvantaged children, involving more than 1000 youngsters in four states. The goal is to identify factors that influence children's educational and social growth during their early years.

Last year the division staff evaluated the educational impact of "Sesame Street," the Children's Television Workshop program. They soon will begin to evaluate compensatory reading programs in the nation's elementary schools for the United States Office of Education.

Midshipman Paul C. Culver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne M. Culver, Wertsville-Zion Road, Hopewell, is taking part in an eight-week training program in northern Europe with the U.S. Second Fleet.

Midshipman Culver is a 1970 graduate of Hunterdon Central High School. During his summer training he will get instruction in Naval command and management as well as practical shipboard experience.

TENNIS WINNERS LISTED

In Junior Tournament. Top honors in the USLTA-sanctioned junior tennis tournament completed on Friday went to Libby Hicks of Lawrenceville, who defeated Marilyn Dods of Hochesin, Delaware, to win the 12-and-under singles title, 6-1, 6-3.

This is the third tournament Libby has won this season. She already has trophies from Hershey and Stone Harbor.

More than 200 junior players competed in the week-long event which finished as scheduled on Friday in spite of the rain, thanks to the Mercer County Indoor Tennis Center and the many Princeton parents who helped to house and transport all of the contestants.

Winners also were David Baumer of Princeton, who, with his partner, Richie Goode of Lake Worth, Florida, won the boys 14 doubles division. Two other Princeton players who went home with silver plates for their efforts were Sara Woodworth and Vera Jesser, runners-up in the girls 12 doubles.

Vera also won the girls 12 consolation, defeating Cary Bachelder, 6-1, 6-1. Susan Bishop and Bobby Silverman were also consolation finalists, Susan being defeated by Biny Brady of Philadelphia in the girls 14, and Bobby by David Haggerty of Morrisville in the boys 14.

Another Princeton player who fared especially well was Dudley Fitzpatrick. Dudley reached the semi-finals of both boys 12 singles and doubles division.

In the singles, he was finally ousted by the eventual winner, Richard Marks of Merion Station, Pa. In doubles, William Ramsay of Bala Cynwyd and John Gorlow of State College defeated Dudley and his partner, Andre Eichenberger, 6-1, 7-5.

Libby Hicks

Princeton players who reached the quarter-finals in their respective division were Chris Miller and David Bowen in the boys 14 doubles and David Baumer in the boys 14 singles. In consolations, Princeton semi-finalists were Stefi Baum in the girls 14, Holly Burks and Sarah Woodworth in the girls 12.

Those who reached the quarter-finals of the consolations were: David Bowen, Alan Fitch and Mark Tarrant in the boys 14; Derek Straut and Bobby Baumer in the boys 12; Andrea Neuman, Lisa Morgan, Ann Magee and Debbie Glover in the girls 14.

KRAFT, HARDY VICTORS

In Men's Doubles Tourney. Unseeded Steve Kraft and John Hardy defeated unseeded John Kayser and Tom Southerland last week to win the 15th annual YMCA men's doubles tennis tournament. Scores were 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Southerland and Kayser were leading, 4-2, in the third set when rain halted play. The match was continued indoors at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club where on the hard surface, Kraft and Hardy ran off the next four games to win the match.

Kraft is a junior at Harvard, Hardy a senior at Princeton. Both are coaches for the junior tennis program here. They defeated the second seeded team of Will Robins and Peter Dumpel, while Southerland and Kayser defeated the top seeded pairing of Steve Tobolsky and Danny Thompson to reach the finals.

SIX QUALIFY HERE

For Eastern Swim Tourney. Six members of the Princeton Community Swimming Team have qualified for the Eastern Seaboard Swimming Championships which will be held Friday through Sunday at Lancaster, Penna.

The six, coached by Bill Farley, are: Andy Bolster, Maura Dorgan, Dan Golden and Jane Fremon of Princeton; Chuck Hector of Hamilton Square; and Jim Clifford of Moorestown.

A sophomore at Princeton High School, Andy Bolster will compete in the 100 meter and 200 meter breaststroke. He placed in the finals of two events in the Regional Championships held in July at the Community Park pool. A member of the Nassau Swim Club and the YMCA Flying Fish, Andy also placed third in the 100-meter breaststroke in the Junior Olympic Regional meet held last month in Elmira, N. Y.

Maura Dorgan, a 15-year-old junior at PHS, is the New Jersey girls' junior champion in the 100-yard backstroke. In the Regional meet at Princeton, she won first place in the consolation finals in the 200-meter backstroke with a clocking of 2:46.1. At Lancaster, she will compete in the 100 and 200-meter backstroke and the 1,500-meter freestyle.

A junior at Princeton University and a member of the Tiger swimming team, Dan Golden, 20, placed second in the 100-meter butterfly in the Regional championships. In the 100-meter freestyle race in the same meet, he placed fourth by decision, after judges' watches had showed the first four swimmers to have touched at the same time. He will swim the same two events at Lancaster.

Former PHS graduate and now a sophomore at Princeton University, Jane Fremon owns three titles. She is the women's Eastern Intercollegiate champion and record-holder in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly. She will compete in these three at Lancaster. Last summer, Miss Fremon qualified for the National Championships in Los Angeles in the 100-meter freestyle, placing 30th with a time of 1:02.7.

Sets N. J. AAU Record. Chuck Hector, 15, a Peddie School sophomore, holds the YMCA Central Atlantic area record for the 200-yard individual medley. A long-time member of the Princeton Y Flying Fish, he also set a New Jersey AAU record for boys 13-14 in the 100 meter breaststroke. In the Regional meet here, he placed second in the 100-meter breast and third in the 200 meter. He will swim the same two events at Lancaster.

Jim Clifford, 19, a junior at the University of Maryland, is the leading Maryland distance freestyler. A newcomer to the Princeton summer swimming group, he will compete in the 200, 400 and 1500-meter freestyle at Lancaster.

CRANBURY TROUNCED

By Nassau Club Swimmers. Nassau Swim Club remained a meet behind unbeaten Stony Brook last week with a 158-99 victory over Cranbury. Nassau's record is now 6-1.

Double winners were Val Van Horn who captured the 25-yard backstroke and freestyle for girls 8 and under;

The difference between a dead-end cellar and a basement-for-living

Without direct access to the out-of-doors, your basement becomes a seldom used, dead-end area, instead of a "live", low-cost space for the enjoyment of your whole family.

A BILCO Basement Door costs so little when it's included in the foundation construction. With it, you will as much as double the living space of your new home! Let us show you how easily and inexpensively you can include a BILCO Door and Stair Stringers in your building plans.

Your Symbol of Security

Savings are a good thing to have these days. More people (over 5,000 families) are saving more than ever at Princeton Savings because there's more peace of mind in a Princeton Savings Account. It's a symbol of security. Many families are cutting down spending for the little things they don't really need, and saving instead for their new baby, for a college education for their children, for old age, or for a financial cushion. Savings have even become fashionable among young people.

The Princeton Savings' passbook pictured above, and the service that goes with it is our only product and we're proud of it. We're proud too, that you have made it a symbol of security.

Tigers Need Quarterback

When the running game bogged down because the opposition lacked sufficient respect for the Princeton aerial threat, pressure on the defense was so constant that it, too, was forced into errors that belied its true ability. Best proof came in the Harvard game, which the Crimson broke open in the second half, not because of a superior offense but because the Tiger defense spent so much time trying to get the ball back that it eventually came apart at the seams. Trailing by no more than 9-7 midway through the third quarter, Princeton eventually lost, 29-7, and the search for misplaced momentum proved fruitless in succeeding games against Yale and Cornell.

Football Schedules for PHS, Hun, Pennington

Football schedules for 1971 have been announced for Princeton High School, Hun School and Pennington School.

The Little Tigers will open their season at home against Hamilton, Sept. 25. Other games: Oct. 2, Ewing; 9, Trenton, away; 16; open; 23, Bridgewater-Raritan, away; 30, Perth Amboy, away; Nov. 6, Steinert; 13, Notre Dame, away; 20, Cherry Hill East.

Hun, unbeaten in the past three seasons, will again play an eight-game schedule, opening at Newark Academy, Sept. 25.

Other games: Oct. 2, Admiral Farragut; 9, George School; 16, Pennington, away; 23, Delbarton, away; 29, Perkiomen, away; Nov. 5, Pingry; and 13, BMI.

The Red Raiders of Pennington, under a new coach, will open Sept. 25, at Englewood School.

Other games: Oct. 2, Morristown Prep; 8, Pennsylvania School for the Deaf; away; 16, Hun; 23, George School, away; 30, Germantown Friends; Nov. 5, Academy of New Church; and 13, Perkiomen, away. The Hun game is homecoming.

Led in Total Offense. Some of the statistics say that Rod Plummer had a pretty good year in his first season as a varsity quarterback. He was the team's leading ground gainer with 1186 yards, completed nearly 50 percent of his passes, nine of them for touchdowns.

But he was also charged with ten interceptions and he was involved in much of the ball-handling during a season in which the Tigers were guilty of the horrendous number of 37 fumbles—more than double the number debited to the opposition. Sixteen interceptions in all and 21 fumbles recovered by the other team created 37 "turnovers," ample proof of McCandless' contention that "our problems snowballed."

If the Tigers are to return to first division this year and to challenge Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, possibly Cornell and maybe even Columbia for the title, the statistics also show that they will need a far greater scoring punch. While Plummer was fifth in passing among the quarterbacks—three of whom have now graduated — and ranked sixth in total offense, Princeton was ahead only of Columbia and Brown in points scored. Persistent problems within the ten-yard line reached a November peak as the Tigers managed only a lone touchdown against Harvard and a mere field goal against Cornell.

When the squad of more than 80 players goes to Blairstown at the end of this month, there will be four quarterbacks: Plummer, junior Tim Testerman and sophomores Fred Dalzell and Jim Flynn. Like Plummer, Testerman had a trying first year on the varsity last fall; of the 23 passes he threw, less than half (nine) were completed and four were intercepted. Plummer's short passes tended to be picked off by the other guys, whereas Testerman's long ones floated too much.

Testerman Has Potential. Testerman, a cool operator and fine ball handler, should improve markedly this fall, with the two sophomores seeing little more than spot action. Of this pair, Dalzell has had the more experience — Flynn was injured during much of the 1970 season but returned in time to play against Yale. Tony Riposta, the third quarterback on last year's freshman team, has been switched to take a shot at the open position at tight end.

While all four candidates for the quarterback position will have an even chance to nail down the starting assignment before the September 25th opener with Rutgers, McCandless thinks Plummer will prove to be his man. "He is an eager, dedicated player," Jake says firmly, "one who has worked extremely hard during the off-season to improve."

With five of the last six games at home this year, the key to the season will be furnished by early road trips to Columbia and Cornell, which in 1971 will provide the toughest back-to-back opposition this pair has ever given the Tigers. "If we are 2-0 in the Ivy standings coming back from Ithaca," says McCandless. "the other teams will have to catch us."

N.Y. LIFE WINS PAIR

In PYBA Senior Division. Cellar-dwelling New York Life acted little like a last-place team last week in the senior division of the PYBA, knocking off first-place Princeton Bank & Trust and Thorne's.

Tom Stanga collected three hits and Steve Kopp two to lead NYL to a 10-8 triumph over Bank & Trust. Mike Diamond, George Reynolds and Rich Warfield all hit safely, Kopp and Diamond stroking doubles. Diamond got the win.

Fred Wilson led the losers with a pair of hits, including a double. Bob King, Scott Marsh, John Gaudinso, Corey Reef and losing pitcher John Videbeck all hit singles.

Against Thorne's, George Reynolds gave up just two hits and struck out nine in posting a 4-3 win. Losing pitcher Steve O'Neill was touched for four hits. He fanned three.

Kopp, Warfield, Diamond and Reynolds each hit singles for NYL, while Mike Shillaber and Larry Howell got two hits off Reynolds.

In a third game, Bank & Trust stayed in first place with a 6-5 victory over PBA. Bob King besting Bob McHugh on the mound. John Gaudioso, Scott Marsh, Fred Wilson and Dan Clohossey hit safely for PB&T.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.

NAVY TOPS RED

In Lacrosse. In the only contest played in the last two weeks in the Princeton Summer Lacrosse League, Navy, which received five goals from Jon Pettit and John Steiger, defeated Red, 8-6. Green won from Blue by forfeit.

Adding single goals in Navy's win were Steve Zamek, Joe McGuinn and Ed Marko.

Mike Skinner led the losers with a pair of goals. Mike Cleary, Ed Pollavino, Bob Finc and Pete Anish all had one each for Red.

MOTOR LODGE WINS

In PAL Tournament. The Princeton Motor Lodge, comprised of all-stars from the Princeton Youth Baseball Association's 9-12 division, won its first game Sunday in the National Police Athletic League Tournament sponsored every year in this area by the Trenton PAL. This year it is a double elimination event, drawing 26 teams from four states.

Another Lesley Bush?

Carol Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wagner of Pennington-Harbourton Road, Pennington, will compete in the National Junior Olympic Swimming and Diving championships next Tuesday through Thursday at Colorado Springs.

She earned a trip to Colorado and a berth in the diving finals by winning the regional championship held in July in Rochester, N.Y.

Carol, who captured the 11 and 12-year old title, has been coached this summer by former Princetonian and Olympic diving champion Lesley Bush.

Motor Lodge edged the East Brunswick All-Stars, 2-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Jim LaPlaca.

Motor Lodge scored both its runs in the second inning. After LaPlaca had led off with a single, first baseman Tom Hagadorn homered over the right field fence. Paul Soderman got the victor's only other hit.

The losers scored their lone run in the first, taking advantage of some early game wildness by LaPlaca. In walking in the run, LaPlaca issued three of the five walks he gave up during the game. He struck out six.

LEADERS SCORE WINS

In PYBA Jr. Division. The top three teams in the Princeton Youth Baseball Association's junior division all scored triumphs last week.

First-place Post 76 won two games, both one-run decisions at the expense of the Elks. Bob Cronin gave up eight hits and struck out eight in leading the 76ers to a 4-3 win. Paul Soderman doubled and Ken Bartolino and Cronin singled at the plate.

Bartolino then received credit for a 5-4 victory in a make-up game. Soderman and Cronin singled in this one and Scott Trani doubled.

Hard-throwing Jim La-Placa tossed a two-hitter against the Eagles, in pitching Engine Co. 1 to an easy 12-2 victory. He fanned 11. He was an equal standout as a batter, connecting for a home run and single. Ed Frick and Morgan Mohrman banged doubles for No. 1.

Dana Nini (five strikeouts) was the losing pitcher. John Silverman and Jim Baxter accounted for the two hits off LaPlaca.

In other games, Hook & Ladder defeated Italian-American Sportsmen Club and Engine No. 3 topped Roma Eterna, 6-1. Justin Leuper and Mike Stryker combined for six hits for No. 3, each rapping a triple. Dave Shillaber also tripled to make a winner of Mike Boonin.

The standings:

IMPORTANT NOTICE!
Effective Tomorrow, AUGUST 6

most amphetamines and amphetamine combination drugs will be classified by the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs under Schedule II. This is the same category as morphine, codeine, cocaine and Demerol.

Ampetamines have a wide variety of legitimate medical indications, such as hyperkinesis in young children, relief of depression, suppression of appetite, etc. They are also known by such names as "dexies", "bennies", "co-pilots", "speed", "ups" and a few other names and have a high potential for abuse, when they get into the wrong hands. Hence, this change of classification by the Justice Department.

You may now be taking one of these drugs under a physician's supervision. These prescriptions may no longer be refilled, regardless of what your physician indicated on the original prescription. A NEW prescription will be required each time . . . IN WRITING. Oral or telephoned prescriptions can not be honored by your pharmacist.

This regulation came upon us rather suddenly, and many people have been away on vacation and may not be aware of its effective date. Neither your physician nor your pharmacist has any control over this situation, other than to abide by the letter of the law. So, if your "diet pills" are not refilled, we hope you'll understand.
